

Stop drowning in HR paperwork – let AI handle the heavy lifting

You became an HR professional to work with people, not spreadsheets.

Yet here you are, spending hours each week wrestling with data across multiple systems, manually calculating turnover rates, and hunting through documents for that one crucial piece of information your CEO needs by tomorrow morning.

There's a better way.

Meet Inira: your AI-powered HR assistant that gets in done in seconds

Imagine asking your computer: "What was our staff turnover in Marketing last quarter?" – and getting an accurate answer in seconds, complete with a professional chart you can share immediately.

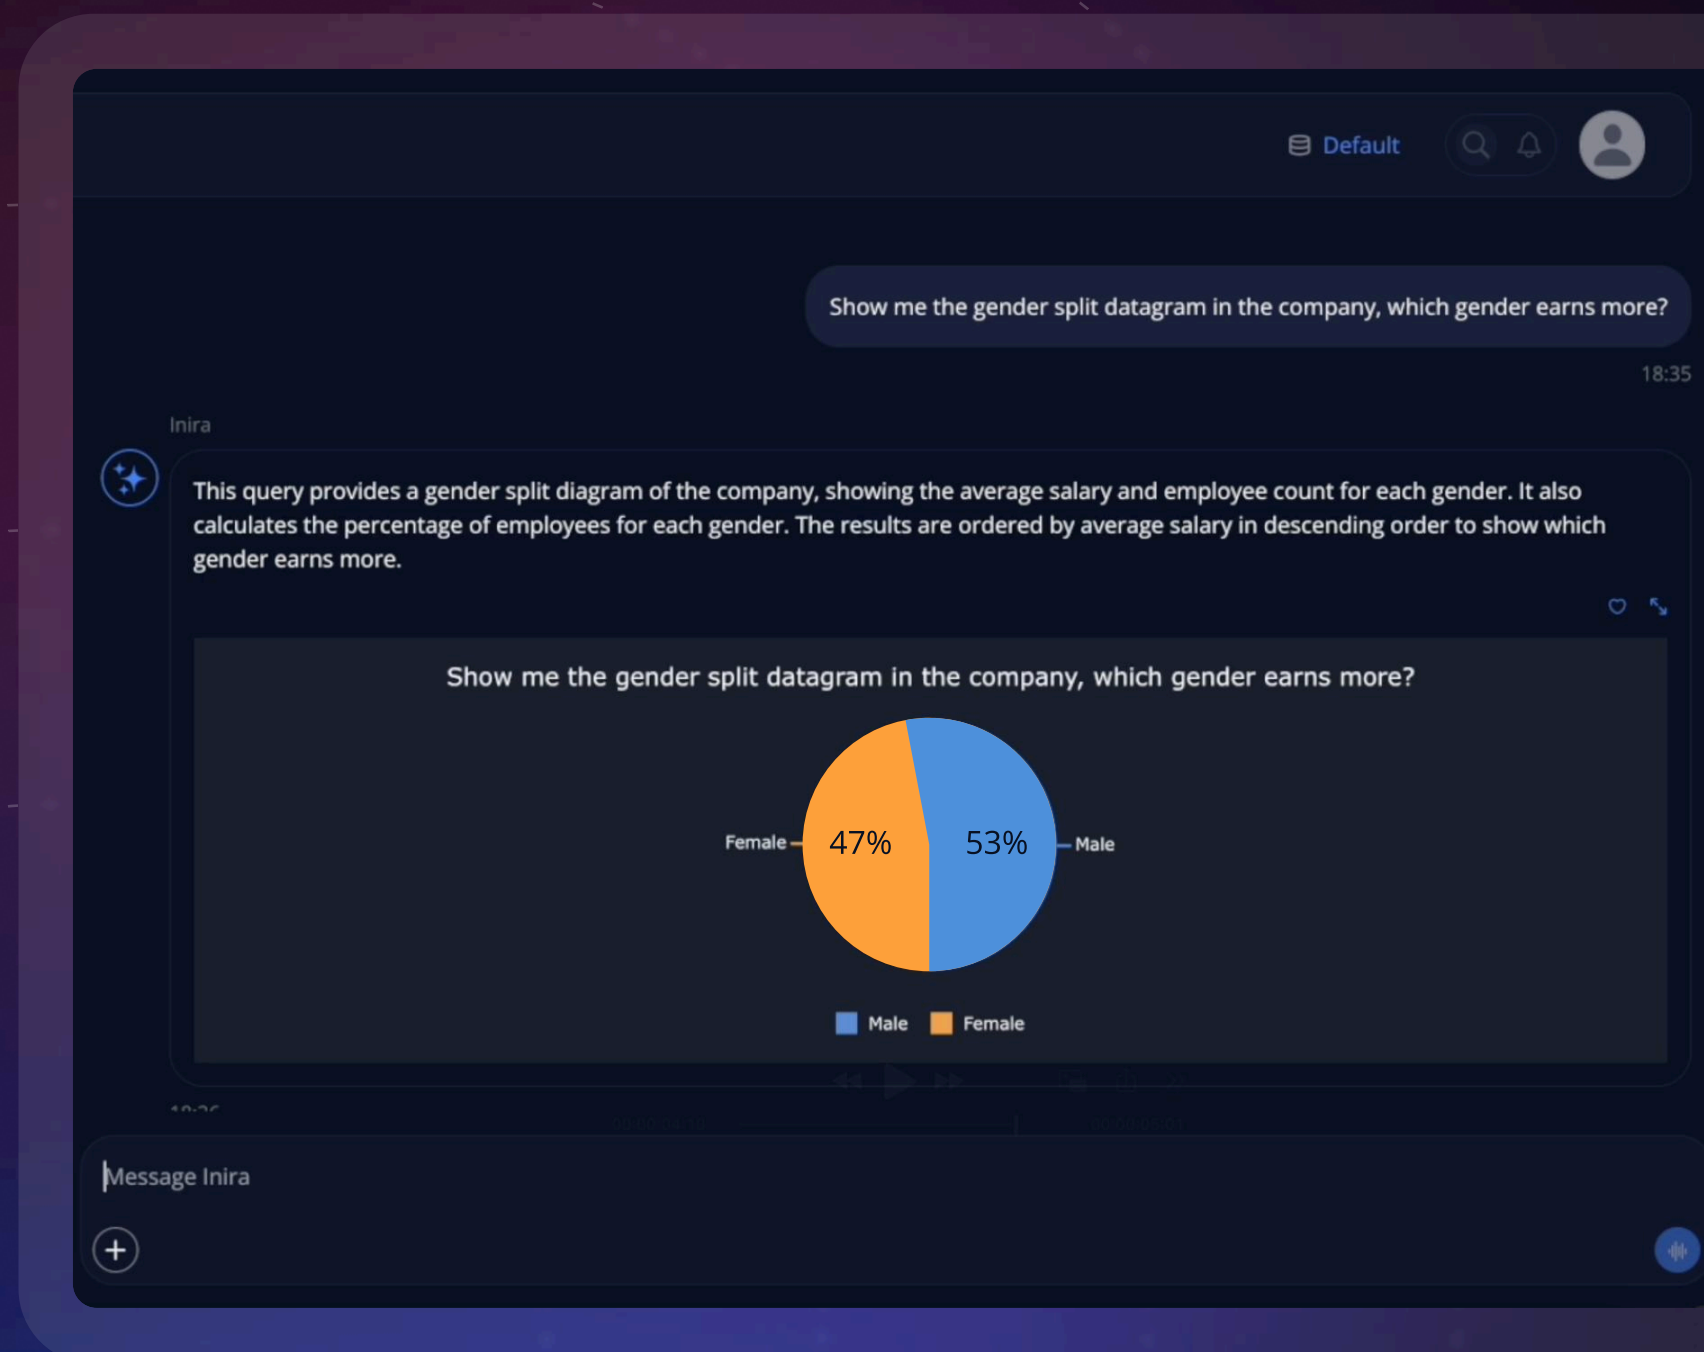

Or uploading a stack of CVs and having them analyzed, summarized, and compared instantly. Securely.

That's Inira.

The first AI assistant that connects to any HR system, eliminates manual busywork, and gives you real insights – without compromising security or accuracy.

What you get back when AI handles the admin

Your Time: No more late nights compiling reports or cross-referencing data between systems. Ask Inira complex questions like "Show me salary progression for John Smith since he started" and watch it pull data from wherever it lives.

Your Sanity: Stop being the office calculator. Inira performs calculations, creates charts, and exports professional reports while you focus on what actually matters – your people.

Your Strategy: When the CEO asks for workforce insights, you'll have answers. Real insights. Not just raw data, but meaningful analysis that helps drive decisions.

Built for the real world (where your data lives everywhere)

Most HR tools force you to consolidate everything into their system. Inira works with what you already have:

- ✓ Any HR system – HRIS, payroll, recruitment, LMS, performance and employee engagement systems
- ✓ Secure document analysis – Upload confidential reports, CVs, policies
- ✓ Automated tasks – Set reminders, generate emails, create summaries
- ✓ Export everything – Charts, tables, reports ready for presentations

Simple questions: "How many new hires last quarter?"

Complex analysis: "What's the correlation between training spend and retention in our remote teams?"

Security that actually protects your people's data

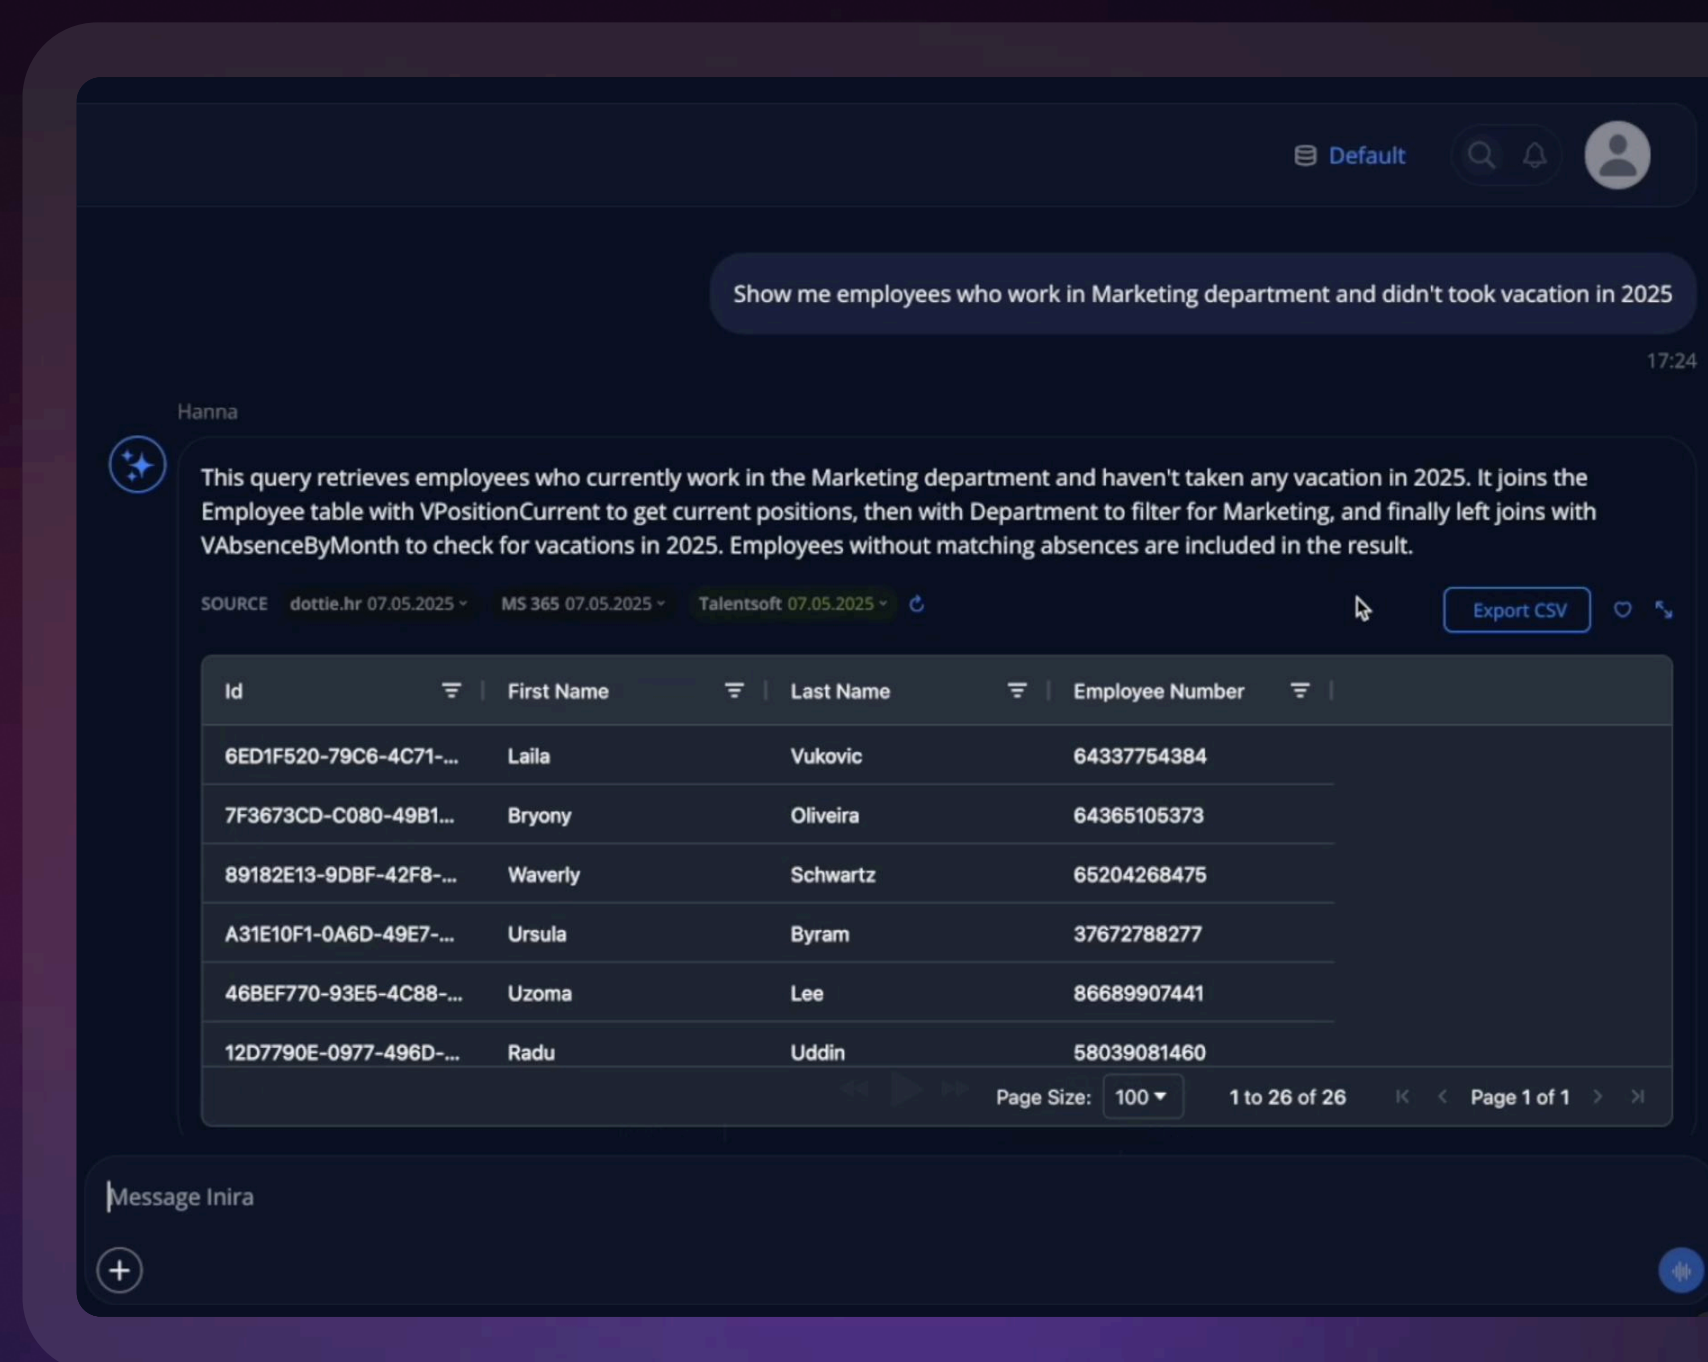

Here's what sets Inira apart: AI never sees your raw data.

While other tools expose your sensitive information to external AI models, Inira uses secure SQL queries. The AI asks the database questions – your data stays locked down, encrypted, and GDPR-compliant in EU servers.

Built on Canvas – ConnectMyApps' ISO27001-certified infrastructure that enterprise clients trust with their most sensitive data.

ROI example

You pay €6,000 annually for the license.
You could easily save 20 hours every month.
And if each hour saved is worth €45 to your business,
You get €10,800 in recovered value per year.
That's an 80% annual return on investment.
